Module III – Communicability of Spirits

The dialogue with Spirits

TOPIC 2

Importance of the counselor or dialoguer

Fraternal Charity

Mediumship Meeting

Suffering discarnates, persecutors, unwilling or not of addictions, hatred, and emotional deviations ...

The dialogue with suffering spirits, inferior and obsessors, is a social necessity.

Herculano Pires

Spirit Counselor, Dialoguer or Medium of enlightenment

A good counselor has the intuitive mediumship developed. It will be perfected with practice

Dialoguers or Mediums of enlightenment should strive to develop:

patience and tolerance, that calm and welcome suffering brothers and sisters.

spiritist study to neutralize fads and misconceptions benevolence, kindness and simplicity while dealing with the communicating Spirits maintenance of simplicity, optimism and fraternity when talking to spirits more rebellious, angry or that seek revenge, supporting them in the aid provided by the spiritual directors.

attention to the problems presented by the Spirit

enveloping the Spirit in harmonic vibrations

The incarnates in charge of the dialogue should become aware of the need to combat their own moral imperfections, working on the acquisition and development of virtues, because their behavior and their well balanced attitudes have significant moral effect on the spirits with whom they talk.

Favorable conditions for a good dialogue with the Spirits

To the Spirit

- that suits the spirit to communicate
- that its position and occupations so permit
- to find in the medium an appropriate instrument to its nature

To a GOOD Dialogue

- The secret is LOVE
(Argumentation + feeling of solidarity, fraternity and understanding)
- WORD endowed with power that leads to harmony
- PRAYER, PASSES AND MENTAL IRRADIATIONS as valuable supporting resources

So, it is not enough to talk to the Spirit, to convey information or teach it something, it is important to evangelize. (...) To talk intellectual knowledge of the Spiritist postulates is enough; to evangelize it is necessary the light of love within oneself. In the first, reading and knowledge suffice; in the second, we need to vibrate and feel with Christ.

XAVIER, F.C. O consolador. By Emmanuel.

If the communicating Spirit persists in enveloping itself in the brazier of prolonged revolt or in clouds of complaints, thus remaining indifferent or obstinate, the director or the assistant in charge will request the cooperation of the Spiritual Benefactors there present, to take the rebellious spirit to a spiritual organization adequate for that particular case. In those situations the use of hypnosis will be beneficial, in order to serene the perturbed companion via the application of calming magnetic energies, thus assisting in his removal from the mediumistic field, in the same manner that a tranquilizer is administered to a sick person who is desperate, so that he may be more easily placed under adequate care.
